RFDB

RF Database

The Searchable Database of Radio Law Requirements for Certifying Radio Equipment

DSP Research, is pleased to offer the RF Database™ as an invaluable resource for identifying the applicable requirements in the certification of Radio Equipment under Japan's Radio Law.

Gain unlimited access to a complete, accurate and efficient tool essential to the successful launch of Radio Equipment in Japan.

Features

- Simple and efficient user interface enables user to search and refine results easily
- Searchable by License Category, Usage, Frequency and/or Device Code of Radio Equipment
- Search results show applicable Laws and Requirements governing certification for specified Radio Equipment
- At current "more than 195" categories of radio equipment under Radio Law are included
- Living database is continually updated with the latest additions and changes to Radio Law
- Effortless automatic updates